

Rapid Access Addiction Medicine

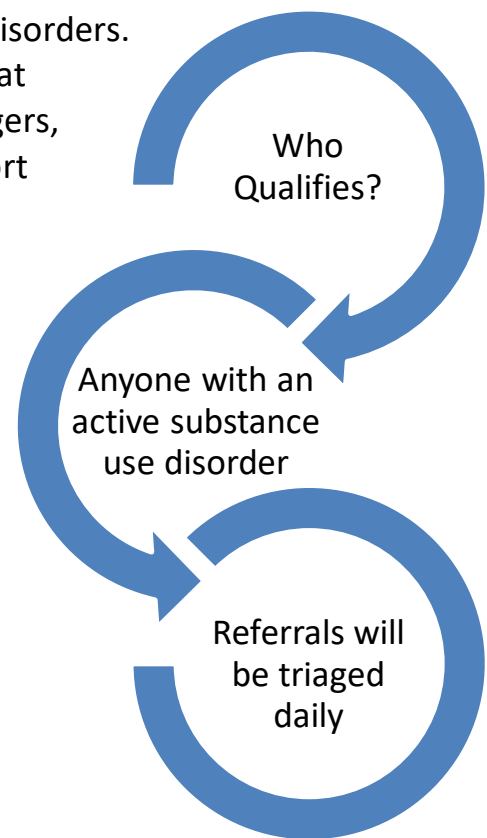

RAAM

RAAM services provide rapid access to specially trained providers and evidence-based treatment for people with substance use disorders. These services are provided by a multi-disciplinary team that includes nurse practitioners, registered nurses, case managers, counselors, harm reduction workers and community support workers.

RAAM offers both medication and psychosocial interventions from the first visit, ensuring a holistic approach to addressing a person's substance use. The goal of the RAAM clinic is to meet people where they are at and work with them to create a care plan that fits with their goals.
